Theme of the Workshop:
In today’s world, when digital technology and multimedia are making waves, it has become very difficult for language teachers to retain students’ interest and remain relevant with the traditional methods of teaching. The teacher’s role has witnessed a transformation from being a transmitter of knowledge to being a consultant, guide and facilitator.

In this scenario it becomes imperative for educators to reinvent themselves and try to evolve new methods of teaching that can lead to desirable outcomes. The advent of Internet and e-resources have emerged as a rich source of teaching support that includes multimedia tools, podcasts, videos, applications and websites. The workshop aims to explore new approaches that can make language teaching and learning more effective and classrooms more dynamic, thereby imparting the required skill set and enabling students to become competent users of language.

Objectives of the Workshop:
• To encourage educators to learn and adopt modern practices for language teaching.
• To foster a productive teaching-learning environment that can kindle students’ interest in language.
• To enable the educators to achieve their teaching objectives that are directed towards imparting essential language skills.
